TechTudo.com is a participant in the Amazon Services LLC Associates Program, an affiliate advertising program designed to provide a means for sites to earn advertising fees by advertising and linking to amazon.comQ: Is it possible to define LINQ query (having Predicate and AsExpandable in the one query) Is it possible to define LINQ query (having Predicate and AsExpandable in the one query)? e.g. var list = List.AsExpandable().Where(p => p.MyProperty == "Value").Select(p => p.SomeProperty); I try to do something like this, but it doesn't work: var list = List.AsExpandable().AsQueryable().Where(p => p.MyProperty == "Value").Select(p => p.SomeProperty); I get error "An entity or complex type cannot be constructed in a LINQ to Entities query." In Entity Framework it is possible to use multiple Where clauses in one query, but I don't know how to get it done in LINQ to Objects. A: It's not possible to query with multiple criteria using AsExpandable extension method. But it's possible to query using AsQueryable extension method and ToList() method to achieve the same functionality. Here is a simple example: var query = dbContext.Tables.AsQueryable(); query = query.AsQueryable().Where(p => p.Name.Contains("A") && p.Name.Contains("B")); var result = query.ToList(); Update: Another example, in your case: var query = List.AsExpandable().AsQueryable(); query = query.AsQueryable().Where(p => p.MyProperty == "Value").ToList(); This is because Linq to Entities works onObjectContext which extends ObjectSet. So in your first example

This application will allow users to encode a multimedia project in any multimedia file, from MP3 and Audible to QuickTime, Windows Media, iTunes and AVI, and also CD Audio. After a long and occasionally difficult five-year legal battle against Fox News, the National Center for Lesbian Rights announced on Friday that it has reached an agreement with the cable channel to settle allegations that it fired Ms. Ho for being a lesbian. Under the terms of the deal, Ms. Ho will receive a $120,000 payout and the N.C.L.R. will have its complaint dismissed. Ms. Ho's lawyers will receive $50,000 in legal fees. A settlement reached in 2003 between Ms. Ho and Fox News, which paid her only $15,000 in compensation, has already been upheld. Since her departure, Ms.

Ho, who lives in San Francisco, has continued to press claims against Fox News, the cable network's parent company, the News Corp. The N.C.L.R. initially filed a complaint in 2001. Ms. Ho, whose real name is Amy Hollyfield, was fired in November 1996 when she admitted that she was a lesbian. She had worked at Fox News Channel for 13 years and was a co-host of "Fox and Friends" when she made the admission. Q: Is it possible to update dataframe using values from another dataframe using pandas I have the following example code: `df1 = pd.DataFrame( { 'name': ['john','bob','steve'], 'age': [18,20,22], 'gender': ['male','male','male'] })` `df2 = pd.DataFrame( {`

Mozilla Developer Network Plugin is a tool intended to let users of Mozilla based browsers test and debug various JavaScript based extensions and add-ons. Many extensions require a small piece of JavaScript code to be run, and this code needs to be tested to ensure that it works properly before the extension is used. Developers who want to test their extensions on Mozilla versions other than Firefox will find that the testing in Internet Explorer requires a slight modification to the code. This article will guide you through the process of installing and configuring the Mozilla Developer Network Plugin for Internet Explorer. Installation Mozilla Developer Network Plugin is available for download from the official website. Simply click the Download button, and an executable file will be downloaded to your computer. Double-click the file to start the installation process. To install a plugin, Firefox will show a warning dialog box. Click Install to go through with the installation. The Mozilla Developer Network Plugin will be installed to C:\Program Files\Mozilla Firefox\plugins. To access the plugin, launch Firefox and open Plugins Manager. If Mozilla Developer Network Plugin is not found, make sure that you have not disabled it or that it is not blocked by your browser's security software. You can also download a self-extracting archive containing the installer file. Save this file to your hard drive, double-click the file to start the installation, and follow the prompts. You will be asked to choose whether you want to install the plugin to all Firefox profiles or to the current profile. Select the appropriate option, and click OK. You will be taken to a confirmation page. Click Install to proceed with the installation. You will be shown a window similar to the one in the following picture: Author's review Posted by Shadow on 2014-06-24 1.
