with a warning? object Test extends App { def get[T: TypeTag](t: (T)#T): Option[T] = t match { case (x) => Some(x) case _ => None } println(get((1,"Test") _)) //~ WARNING: Scoping error: missing pattern type,?T =>?T } I would expect to get a compile error when the compiler encounters the _ in the second case. A: When you use Scala-style operator ( _ ) instead of a notation to access the head of a tuple, as in the example below, the expression gets evaluated for each element of the tuple. Therefore, when there is only one element in the tuple, you'll get an exception, as expected.

scala> (1,2,"Test") match { case ((x,y,z)) => println(x) } :10:

guilty to helping a notorious mobster flee to Cuba in the late 1990s, federal prosecutors said Wednesday. Pietro "Petro"

Aguzzo is the third former associate to plead guilty in the case of John "Jackie D" D'Amato. Aguzzo pleaded guilty to conspiracy to violate the Travel Act and a firearms possession charge, the U.S. Attorney's Office in Brooklyn said in a statement. He agreed to cooperate with prosecutors and could face up to 15 years in prison. D'Amato, who went to prison in 1998 for paying a mob associate to kill a mob enforcer, fled New York in June 2000 with his friend, Angelo Ruggiero. He fled to Cuba on a United States' government-sponsored jet, authorities say. Ruggiero also has pleaded guilty and faces up to 15 years in prison. His sentencing is set for April 30. Aguzzo first started working for the D'Amato mob family in 1992, the Brooklyn U.S. Attorney's Office said. Aguzzo then helped arrange for the mobster to be smuggled out of prison in 1998, and he made payments to look the other way when D'Amato carried out other crimes, prosecutors said. D'Amato was the boss of the Genovese crime family until he was arrested in 1998. He was convicted of running a gambling operation and labor racketeering, among other crimes, and sentenced to 15 years in prison. His long-time friend, Ruggiero, worked as D'Amato's chauffeur, regularly flying him around. After being released from prison in June 2000, Ruggiero was convicted of conspiracy to violate the Travel Act and
