Transcript for Man admits to killing wife, son, and parents on a bridge Villy, good morning. I live in Virginia. I'm an American. It's a great honor to be here. This is what I do. Never have I done anything that I can live with my conscience. I'm an honest person. I honor my word and I honor my family. I honor my country. The fact that I've done my part to serve our country does not mean I have immunity or expectation of impunity. I'm guilty. And there's nothing I can say that can excuse what I did. So yes, I killed my wife and my son. I killed my parents and I'm sorry. I can't begin to know their pain. I can't begin to understand it. But my family was my heart. That's all I can say. I didn't kill other people. I hope I didn't. So this morning, we say goodbye to the kind, loving, genius, and kind mother, Mary. A brave

The software is available for Windows (x32 and x64) operating systems at $39.95. The words from the 1.5 million-strong petition for the royal wedding in Westminster Abbey on April 29 have been sent to the Queen, to Charles, Camilla, the Duchess of Cornwall and the Prince of Wales. More than 90% of those who signed it were born in or lived in the UK. The Abbey's Dean, Sir John Pritchard, said that "the second biggest crowd ever seen at the Abbey", was expected. He added: "The gargantuan efforts and presence of security in the great abbey, the greenery of the balcony and the thousands of members of the public who have taken some on a personal journey to make themselves part of the occasion, are the outstanding successes of the day." The march to the abbey was organised by a group called People's March, which bills itself as "a grouping of trade unionists, socialists, Christians, vegetarians, pacifists and others who believe in peace, equality and justice". The march, which was timed to begin at 6.30am on the day of the wedding, was organised as the main alternative to the march by the Trades Union Congress, which attracted about 5,000 people to the Palace of Westminster this morning, and will end at the abbey. King of Hearts: William performs a ceremonial sword dance before thousands of spectators The petition started on a massive scale on the website change.org, where it gathered 34,500 signatures within just five hours. "We want to show a united Britain, celebrating our rich diversity," said King of Hearts, who started the petition with 30 of his friends. "Whether you're a young woman from a poor background or an ex-soldier, we all want to show our love for the monarchy. This wedding is a chance to unite our country and share
