How can I efficiently evaluate this integral? I don't think the convergence conditions of Gauss-Lobatto are satisfied. I know that for definite integration the coefficients are complex functions of the interval length and their values will be real and positive (if I assume that $a_1 \geq a_2 \geq \dots \geq 0$). $I(a_1, a_2, \dots, a_n) = \int_0^1 \frac{1}{1+x^{1+\frac{a_1}{a_2}}} dx$ The only real thing that I know is that the $k+1$ Gauss-Lobatto are always positioned on the curve itself. A: Your integral is analytic for $a_1 > 0$ but it is not for $a_1 = 0$. Using the Cauchy Integral formula for example, we get: $\frac{\pi}{2} I(0, a_2, a_3, \dots, a_n) = \int_0^1 \frac{dx}{1+x^{1+\frac{a_2}{a_3}}} = \int_0^1 \frac{x^{\frac{1}{a_3}}}{1+x^{\frac{1}{a_2}+\frac{1}{a_3}}}$

What's new in Mortadelo Y Filemón: Una Aventura De Cine - Edición Especial:

(TV series) Thunderflash is an action-adventure animated television series created by Tony Aaron and based on a series of comic book by the same name, and produced by Hanna-Barbera. It originally aired between March 3, 1976 and April 3, 1977 on CBS. The series follows the tale of Flash Gordon and his "Moon Maid" companion, Dale Arden. It was one of Hanna-Barbera's more prominent action-adventure serials. Plot In the fourth century B.C., the starship Atlantis 1 set out to explore the remoteness of the solar system. During the voyage, the ship is suddenly attacked by an unknown enemy. Shortly after, the popular entertainer Flash Gordon is informed that the ship was attacked by an enemy vessel and that it's boarded by a number of villains. Flash then confides in his companion Dale Arden, who was previously with him aboard the ship. Dale later joins him in order to help find out the cause of the attack. Their search leads them to a planet by the name of Mongo. The villains lead them into a dungeon by tricking Dale into believing she had murdered a man. The same man is later found out to be a sound-alike for the good-hearted Dale's husband from the fourth century A.D. In the end, he is seen alive and well. After regaining her memory, Dale aids them in defeating the villainous crew. Furthermore, the enemy vessel is destroyed by a trap aboard the ship.

Characters

The first season of Thunderflash features a young woman named Dale Arden, who is a former lover of Flash Gordon and recently his wife. Her friend Devlin is a fourth-century man who resides on Mongo and along with Flash and Dale are attacked by space pirates. She joins them in order to find out the cause of a mysterious attack on the ship and becomes a leading hero in the second-season Thunderflash, when Devlin is more fully developed as an ally.

Flash Gordon

The eponymous hero is a famous twentieth-century journalist and adventurer whose adventures began in the first issue of the very first Flash Gordon serial, "Flash Gordon". In the second season, Flash Gordon is billed as the White Knight Czar of the Imperial Royal Venerals. His costume was redesigned to a futuristic type. His leadership abilities, gun skill, and all-around skill are shown to be up to date with the latest fashions and techniques. He is portrayed
